Britain Already Claims Possession Of Most Of Italian Somaliland

By PERCY WINNER

ROME, Feb. 28.—Italy may abandon Somaliland and Eritrea to advancing British forces and make her stand in the mountain fastness of Ethiopia, the Italian press indicated today.

Premier Mussolini's own newspaper, the Popolo d'Italia of Milan, made this prediction as the Italian high command admitted that Mogadiscio, capital of Somaliland, had been evacuated and presumably later occupied by British troops.

The lowlands of Somaliland and Eritrea in east Africa are hardly defensible against modernized attack, Popolo pointed out.

Thus both may be lost by the fortunes of war. But in the mountains of Ethiopia, adequate defenses are possible, Popolo said, and the British drive which thus far has achieved considerable success may be stopped in its tracks.

PA NEW OBSERVES

From indications today, March appears to be getting set to make its debut "like a lion."

Sugar camps in this district will soon be open. Weather conditions are beginning to be favorable for the annual run of maple sap.

Although this cold weather somewhat hampers street re-surfacing work, the job of preparing Scotland Lane for a hard surface is being carried ahead. Black top material is only poured during warm weather.

Don't think that it is too late to make remittance for those Christmas Seals you put aside a few months ago. The work of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society is year-round and the money will be appreciated at any time.

Plans are already being made for the coming Girl Scout camping season. The New Castle girls will use Camp Kiondashaw located near Transfer, Pa., again this year.

Traveling up North Mill street on Thursday evening was a coupe which had several large logs in the rear compartment. Evidently logs for fireplace use.

Those men who have the job of clearing snow around the public schools have certainly had a real job of shoveling snow this winter. They were at the task again this morning. They not only have long sidewalks to clear, but most of the schools have large areas in front of the buildings that have to be "shovelled off."

Lawrence County Draft Board No. 1 (at Ellwood City) today chose four "selectees" to replace those rejected in its February 25 contingent. The group will report for induction Thursday, March 6.

The four: Alex Szimkanich, New Castle, R. F. D. 1; Andrew Lample, Portersville, R. F. D. 2; Russell Vernie Bosley, General Delivery, Ellwood City, and Henry Louis Obodzinski, New Castle, R. F. D. 7.

Chief Clerk M. B. Poulton said County Board No. 1 today received orders to have 10 more youths ready for induction Wednesday, March 19. They will be chosen shortly.

Surplus Program Will Be Extended

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—The federal government is preparing to inaugurate in Pennsylvania a wide-spread extension of its surplus commodities plan designed to aid relief recipients, it was learned today.

Willard E. Solenberger, department of public assistance public relations chief, revealed that the federal cotton stamp plan, tried successfully in the south and west, soon will be introduced in Pennsylvania, with Scranton as the trial point.

If successful in Scranton, the plan will probably be extended to other cities in the state and throughout the east.

Report Capture Of Island By British

(International News Service) LONDON, Feb. 28.—A report was received in London today that British troops have captured and occupied the Italian island of Kassos (Caso) in the Dodecanese group. British officials refused to deny the report.

Kassos is the most southerly of the Dodecanese. It lies south-southwest of the powerful Italian island of Rhodes.

Early this week, Britain announced seizure of the Italian island of Castel Orizta, a tiny islet with a seaplane base just south of Asia Minor.

Some 50 to 75 pigeons were perched this morning on one of the higher buildings on East Washington street. The coping of this building overhangs the sidewalk, and police observing the situation from across the street, concluded that the birds are a nuisance, and that something will have to be done about it.

Rome Admits Troops Evacuate Mogadiscio

(BULLETIN) (International News Service) ROME, Feb. 28.—Italian troops have evacuated Mogadiscio, capital of Italian Somaliland, the Fascist high command announced today.

Editor's Note: A British communique announced capture of Mogadiscio the day before yesterday. Yesterday a Rome communique admitted only that Italian troops were retreating "toward Mogadiscio."

The war bulletin said that after evacuating Mogadiscio, Italian forces were engaged in violent fighting north of the town.

Italian artillery was active in the Keren sector of Eritrea, the high command said, while in North Africa Italian and German planes bombed and machine-gunned British armored car detachments. At Gufra and Giarabub, it was claimed, repeated enemy attacks were beaten off by Italian troops.

No special events occurred on the Greek front, the bulletin said, but enemy planes attempting to attack an Italian air base were intercepted and one British Spitfire was shot down while a second enemy plane was shot down by naval anti-aircraft artillery.

Former King Of Spain Is Dead

Alfonso Dies In Rome After Long Illness, This Morning

(International News Service) ROME, Feb. 28.—With his wife, ex-Queen Eugenie, and his two daughters and three sons at his bedside, former King Alfonso XIII of Spain died today after a lengthy, critical illness in Rome.

The ex-monarch succumbed shortly before noon to the ravages of a serious heart and nervous ailment as a battery of physicians struggled to save his life when the final crisis came.

Alfonso, for whose life his physicians had given up hope some days ago, died reclining in an arm chair in his hotel suite, surrounded by members of his family.

His condition had been so serious that his physicians were unable to transfer him to a bed and he had spent the final critical stage of his illness propped up in the chair.

Oxygen was administered in increasing quantities during the past two days as Alfonso's condition gradually became worse after he had seemed to rally earlier in the week. During the last two days of his life he suffered a new series of heart attacks.

BULGARIA AND BRITAIN NEARER OPEN RUPTURE

(BULLETIN) (International News Service) LONDON, Feb. 28.—Prospect of a diplomatic rupture between Britain and Bulgaria, which might lead to open warfare, came closer today as authoritative British circles said British Minister George Rendel's departure from Sofia "cannot be long delayed."

It was stated, however, that no date has yet been fixed for Rendel and members of the legation staff to depart from Bulgaria.

British quarters declared the Sofia government must "assume full responsibility" in view of the "considerable help" Bulgaria has extended to Germany.

Military men, civilians and even members of the Fascist party were implicated, it was said. A number of officers serving on the Albanian front have been arrested by their superiors for treason, the prisoners said.

Rumors That German Army Panzer Corps Begins Crossing Danube

BRITISH MINISTER WARNS BULGARIA

Britain Near Verge Of Breaking Relations With Bulgaria And May Fight

(BULLETIN) (International News Service)

SOFIA, Feb. 28.—Rumors that German army panzer corps have begun crossing the Danube River into Bulgaria reached Sofia today after British Minister George Rendel warned that Britain is ready and willing to fight in Bulgaria.

Rendel indicated Britain is on the verge of breaking diplomatic relations with Bulgaria. He warned that British forces are prepared to strike instantly against "hundreds if not thousands" of German troops alleged to have filtered into Bulgarian territory.

Denial By Germany These developments were followed by a quick denial from the German legation in Sofia that German tanks or troops are passing through Bulgaria or have occupied the country. But Rendel made it clear Britain may launch attacks over or on Bulgarian soil to meet any German drive against Greece.

Official Bulgarian quarters refused to confirm the rumors, which claimed that tank of the German panzer corps were moving into Bulgaria over newly-constructed pontoon bridges.

Other reports from the Bulgarian border said heavy snowfalls began during the night and might delay any German military move into Bulgaria.

Charges Large-Scale Move In an interview, Rendel charged large-scale German military infiltration already has begun and (Continued On Page Two)

BRITISH DENY BERLIN CLAIMS OF SHIPS SUNK

(International News Service) BERLIN, Feb. 28.—German warplanes yesterday sank or damaged 28 merchant ships totalling 146,000 tons, the German high command stated today.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In London British authorities branded the German claims "just another of Germany's familiar propaganda stories."

This claim represents the greatest "killing" in a single day so far announced as a result of attacks on shipping by the Luftwaffe.

Soviet Is Not Pleased With U. S. Attitude On Supplying Tools

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Soviet Russia has delivered an implied warning to the United States that it may be compelled to develop closer relations with Germany and Japan as the result of this government's refusal to approve the shipment of American machine tools to Russia, it was learned today.

A diplomatic hint to this effect has been conveyed to Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles by Soviet Ambassador Constantine S. G. Moskow.

Moskow's position is that if the United States is unwilling to make some sacrifice for improved relations with the Soviet Union, Russia will have no alternative but to seek closer relations with those countries prepared to engage in mutually advantageous deals.

Annual Banquet At Field Club Will Be Preceded By Seminar During Afternoon

JUDGE GOODRICH WILL BE SPEAKER

Members of the Lawrence County Bar association have been dieting diligently all week, getting in proper eating condition for the annual banquet, which will take place at the New Castle Field Club on Saturday.

Preceding the banquet, which is at 6:30 p. m., there will be a seminar, at 2 o'clock, when Judge Herbert F. Goodrich, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Philadelphia will be the speaker. His subject will be, "Legal Aspects of an Automobile Journey."

Judge Goodrich is one of the outstanding jurists of the country, and prior to his appointment was dean of the law school at the University of Pennsylvania. An open discussion will follow.

Ex-Judge R. L. Hildebrand, vice president of the County Bar, who succeeded to the office of acting president following the appointment of Judge Charles Matthews, Jr., will preside, and will introduce Ex-Judge James A. Members of the Beaver, Butler, Mercer, and Venango County bar associations will be present, including Judges Reader and Wilson, of Beaver county; Judge Rowley of Mercer county; Judge Wilson, of Butler county; Judge Lee A. McCracken, of Venango county, and Supreme Court Justice William M. Parker.

Clyde Gillfillan, District Attorney John G. Lamore, Marshall G. Matheny, Rufus McKinley, Alvah M. Schumaker, and Robert M. White go into action, when the hand-fed turkeys which have been groomed for the past few months and brought to a final stage of perfection for the dinner, will be carved to the size of the various appetites.

At the close of the dinner, and before the evening speaking program Attorney Clarence A. Patterson will preside over a period known as the "strange interlude," when anything can happen and probably will.

A little later, President Hildebrand will present Judge W. Walter Braham as toastmaster of the evening, and Judge Goodrich will again speak, this time in a lighter vein. Judge Parker will also address the association, closing what promises to be one of the most outstanding affairs the county barriesters have had in some time.

General Chairman Robert M. White has been assisted in the preparation of the event by Attorneys Charles V. Ross, Joseph Solomon, and Mike Barletta.

Berlin Seeking Counter-Stroke To British Diplomatic Activity In Turkey

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—Strong reports that Bulgaria tomorrow will sign a treaty placing her on the side of the Rome-Berlin Axis were heard in Berlin today.

There was no official confirmation. Official German quarters refused to discuss the reports at all.

But seasoned correspondents recalled that the Reich invariably has followed a policy of saying little or nothing about such momentous events until they have occurred.

Britain Warns

Well-informed quarters in Berlin expressed keen interest in dispatches from Budapest which quoted the authoritative Hungarian newspaper Pester Lloyd as stating Bulgaria would sign a three-point pact at Vienna tomorrow.

From this it was inferred that Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filloff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff (Continued On Page Two)

Buffalo Strike Brought To End

Three-Point Plan Offered

Orderly Picketing Prevails Around Lackawanna Plant Today

POLICE MOVE TO HALT OUTBREAKS

BULLETIN
(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 28.—The short-lived but riot-ridden strike at Bethlehem Steel's giant plant at nearby Lackawanna came to a peaceful end today when the strikers voted to accept a government-sponsored settlement which they said already had been approved by the company.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Hope for speedy settlement of the strike at the Lackawanna plant of the Bethlehem Steel company came today with reports that CIO union leaders and company officials were willing to accept a three-point government proposal to end the walkout.

A mass meeting of the strikers, who quit the plant Wednesday night after their demands for greater wages and reinstatement of discharged union men were rejected, will be held later today to ratify the program put forward by the federal office of production management.

Orderly picketing prevailed at the plant today. By common agreement of police, Bethlehem officials and leaders of the steel workers' organizing committee, the No. 1 gate of the plant, scene of yesterday's repeated clashes between pickets and police, was closed early this morning.

Three-Point Proposal
Government officials, eager to end the strike at the plant which has crippled production of millions of dollars worth of national defense orders, made their three-point proposal from Washington after consulting with company and union officials by phone and telegraph.

The OPM proposal calls for full reinstatement of all employees as soon as resumption of operations will permit, a conference between the SWOC and the company to seek adjustment of differences, and action of the OPM to "explore" the possibilities of holding an election to determine the bargaining agency at the plant.

While company and union estimates varied as to the effectiveness of the strike, police took further steps to forestall any new outbreaks of violence. Sheriff H. William Pollock broadcast a radio appeal for special deputies for strike duty.

Edward F. Entwistle, general manager of the Lackawanna plant, termed the strike a failure. Only 69 men answered the strike call and all departments are operating, he said. Nathan E. Cowan, SWOC official, estimated the strike was 95 per cent effective.

The 1940 Census showed 92 cities having 100,000 or more inhabitants in 1940. The highest percentage increase in large city population occurred in cities of the South—13.2 percent. Cities in the West were second with 10.8 percent, while cities in the North increased only 2 percent.

GINGER ROGERS AND JAMES STEWART GET YEAR'S MOVIE HONORS

ple to know, through our films, that in America we have public servants, not masters, and thanked the industry for "promoting solidarity of all the Americas."

Ginger Rodgers—Stewart Win
The most coveted of the little awards went to James Stewart and Ginger Rogers, and they turned out to be a pair of stammering, emotion-struck thespians, as shy and reticent as neighborhood kids taking their first turns on amateur night at the little playhouse around the corner.

Stewart's "Oscar" was inscribed "For the Best Performance by an Actor" and Ginger's read the same except "by an actress." Jimmy's championship vehicle was "The Philadelphia Story," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, and Miss Rogers' was "Kitty Foyle," turned out by R-K-O.

"Rebecca" Best
The "outstanding motion picture of the year" was "Rebecca," a United Artist release by David Selznick and it marked a sort of a record by Mr. Selznick for he is the gentleman who walked off with practically all the honors a year ago with "Gone With the Wind."

In the supporting roles, the lucky winners were Walter Brennan for his work in "The Westerner," a Samuel Goldwyn picture, and Jane Darwell, for her masterful portrayal of Ma Joad in "Grapes of Wrath," from the 20th Century-Fox studio.

John Ford outdistanced his fellow directors and picked up the statuette for the best achievement with a megaphone, and his story was "Grapes of Wrath."

Award For Bob Hope
Bob Hope, the comedian, was awarded a special memento, amid great applause, for his "unselfish services to humanity." It really was for the many benefits Bob has played, the proceeds of which went to numerous charities but none of which went into Bob's pockets.

Other awards were: Best original motion picture story—"A Kiss My Love," Paramount; best original screenplay—"The Philadelphia Story," M-G-M; best original screenplay—"The Great McGinty," Paramount; best technical end—"Best art direction (black and white films)," "Pride and Prejudice," M-G-M; Cedric Gibbons and Paul Grosse; best art direction (color films), "Thief of Bagdad," Vincent Korda; best camera work (black and white films), "Rebecca," best camera work in color, "Thief of Bagdad," best sound recording, "Strike Up the Band," M-G-M, Douglas Shearer.

Prize short subjects were: Cartoons—"Milk and Honey," M-G-M; one reel, "Quicker'n a Wink," M-G-M; two-reel, "Teddy, the Rough Rider," Warner Bros.

Best film editor was Anne Bauchens for Paramount's "Northwest Mounted Police," best original score was in Walter Disney's "Pinocchio" by Leigh Harline, Paul Smith and Ned Washington; best scoring was Alfred Newman's "Tin Pan Alley" from the Fox Lot; best song, "When You Wish Upon A Star," by Washington and Harline in "Pinocchio," and best special effects, "The Thief of Bagdad."

as well as Somaliland and Eritrea. British east African forces are being aided, it is said, by rebellious Ethiopian patriots flocking to the banner of former Emperor Haile Selassie, who is directing operations of his followers from some unspecified point in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

In addition to predicting the fall of Italy's two chief coastal colonies in east Africa, Popolo had another piece of bad news for the Italian people.

From November to February, the newspaper admitted, five troop transports were sunk in the Mediterranean. One carried 200 non-combatants, the paper said, while the others were empty.

Huge Hole In Empire
Loss of Eritrea and Somaliland would cut a huge hole in Italy's empire. The former, which includes the Red Sea board, has an area of 45,783 square miles and a last recorded population of 400,000. It was first taken by Italy in 1889.

Somaliland is a region of far vaster extent, acquired by Italy in 1889. It has an area of 139,430 square miles and a population of 650,000. (Editor's Note: Britain already claims virtual possession of Italian Somaliland. Last year, Italian forces conquered British Somaliland, driving a small British force out of Berbera, the capital. In London, an official spokesman recently said: "We lost one Somaliland but now we've got another and it's three times as good.") claimed Bulgarian military forces, police, press and communications are substantially under Nazi control.

He intimated Britain might declare war on Bulgaria and would not hesitate to move in without a formal declaration in an effort to beat Germany to the punch in the anticipated Balkan blow-up.

"Britain will not permit the same thing to happen in Bulgaria that happened in Rumania," Rendel said. Earlier the British minister had told Bulgarian Premier Bogdan Filov a strong protest against the mysterious disappearance of a British legation official. At his press conference Rendel declared he and his staff would refuse to "remain in Bulgaria in a humiliating position or play into the hands of the Germans."

Dire Consequences
"Dire consequences will follow for Bulgaria," he warned, "if and when British officials leave Bulgarian soil."

He declared it "very probable" that Britain would declare war on Bulgaria even in advance of any outright Bulgarian act of war, once Anglo-Bulgarian diplomatic relations are severed. He added that "we would still regard ourselves free to attack the Germans on Bulgarian soil without any formal declaration."

Rendel declared his government took a serious view of the disappearance of a British legation passport official, Wodan Grenovitch, who allegedly was "kidnaped" by a train near the Bulgar-Turkish border while en route to Turkey to see Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

It was understood Rendel has demanded immediate return of Grenovitch, a Russian-born naturalized Briton. British circles charged Grenovitch was snatched from the train with important documents in his possession at request of German officials.

compromise proposal for settlement of the conflict between Indo-China and Thailand (Siam).

Japan was stated to have warned she would resort to "forceful action" if French Indo-Chinese authorities and the Vichy government fail to produce a satisfactory reply by the midnight "deadline."

(Editor's Note: According to the London Daily Express the French Vichy government has defied the Japanese ultimatum. A meeting of the Vichy cabinet was called for this afternoon. An official French spokesman was quoted as stating "France has fixed maximum, iron-bound concessions and she certainly will not go an inch beyond them, whatever happens.")

Deaths of the Day

T. Porter Crawford

Complications following a long illness resulted in the death of T. Porter Crawford, aged 76, who passed away at his home in Big Beaver township Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Surviving are a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford, both at home, and two brothers, S. W. Crawford of North Beaver township and R. J. Crawford of New Wilmington.

The body was removed to the Marshall funeral home, Wampum, and is being taken to the late residence this afternoon at 1 o'clock. It will be returned to the funeral home Sunday morning at 11 o'clock for funeral services, to be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery, this city.

Page Funeral
Requiem high mass for William James Page, 75, Butler avenue, was celebrated this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church with Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson as celebrant.

Palbearers were William McCune, Roy McCoy, Ralph Nevel, George Pollock, John Templeton and Claude Snyder.

Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin conducted the committal service at the grave in St. Mary's cemetery.

'LEASE LEND' BILL IS DENOUNCED BY SENATOR WHEELER
of the sentiment of the country being fully expressed," said Senator Clark (D., Idaho).

Congress Abdicating
Wheeler in an exhaustive analysis of H. R. 1776, contended that congress will be abdicating its authority by passing it. He charged that it was through just such emergency measures that Hitler and Mussolini rose to dictatorial power.

"Denying that the bill is a defense measure," Wheeler said: "This 'disarming little catchword' defense' is the theme song of the bill, artfully repeated over and over again, as if repetition could make truth out of fiction."

"Actually, it covers an insensate program to strip the United States of its defenses for the benefit of foreign nations and at the same time plunge the United States, stripped of its arms, headlong into a war at the whim of its chief executive without further consulting congress or the people."

Urges Amendment
Urging passage of an amendment specifying countries to be aided, Wheeler raised a new cry against the bill. Its power, he said, may be used to put down revolutions in Central and South America. The Montanan continued:

"Now we shall suddenly learn that every revolution south of the Rio Grande is inspired by Nazi fifth columnists and to uphold the rotten hand and the iron rule of the dictator of our choice in each of these countries."

"Did I say the dictator of our choice? I mean the dictators chosen by Wall Street banks to protect our so-called investments in such countries meaning the right to exploit their cheap labor."

Wheeler declared that a "joker" exists in the bill, because under it President Roosevelt could revise the neutrality act and open sea lanes to England or other nations now in combat zones.

The senator maintained that the President could set aside labor laws and even require workers to labor 12 to 15 hours a day. The limitation on the President's power to June 30, 1943, is meaningless, he said.

"Actually, once we are committed to the course laid out by this bill, the die is cast," Wheeler asserted.

planned still another visit to German territory. The last time Filoff left Bulgaria it was said to be for a rest cure. He returned to Sofia only a short time ago.

If he is coming to Vienna tomorrow, it was pointed out, it can only be for official reasons.

So far as Bulgarian adherence to the tripartite pact is concerned, or the nature of the three points reported in the Budapest dispatch, German quarters had nothing to say.

But Masanori Oshima, new Japanese ambassador to Germany, is now at Berchtesgaden and is due to visit Vienna tomorrow. Thus the setting is perfect for some new demonstration of Axis solidarity.

Even neutral observers in Berlin conceded that Bulgarian adherence to the tripartite pact at this particular moment of Balkan uneasiness would be a most effective counter-stroke to British diplomatic activities in Turkey.

JOINT HOSTESSES AT BRITISH RELIEF PARTY

Most delightful in every way, was the party given Thursday evening in the Sheridan avenue home of Mrs. K. Ward Remold when she entertained jointly with Mrs. A. Lewis Conn, for the North Side Unit of the British War Relief, which was largely attended.

Cards provided the diversion, and the one holding top honors at each table, was awarded with a lovely prize. A handsome door trophy was presented to Mrs. Fred Lindorfer, at the close of the entertainment. Tallies, score pads and other details, were cleverly designed in the British War Relief theme.

Lunch was a later pleasure, and the hostesses were aided by Evan Hopkins, Miss Elizabeth Harvard and Mrs. John Rodgers. Appointments were suggestive of Spring, for this feature.

A nice sum was realized, to be turned into North Side Unit of the British War Relief fund of the North Side Unit.

NEW CASTLE HOSPITAL NURSES WILL MEET

New Castle Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association, will hold a meeting Tuesday evening, March 4, in the Nurses Home, with important business to be transacted.

Pagley, Mrs. Lenora Pagley, Mrs. Wonneta Pagley, Mrs. Josephine Pagley and Betty Jane Tuscano.

The honoree was remembered with a lovely array of gifts for her home.

READING CIRCLE '06 MEETS ON THURSDAY

Mrs. T. C. Armstrong entertained members of the Reading Circle '06 in her home on Croton avenue, Thursday afternoon.

Response to roll call was "a current event", after which Mrs. W. J. McBride read a most excellent paper on "Churches Must Be Beautiful."

"Millions of Backsliders" was the title of Mrs. L. T. Moore's paper, and was read by Mrs. Albert Wilson. Mrs. H. C. Mitchell told, in her interesting manner, of the "National Park in California."

On March 31, Mrs. J. H. Griner will receive the Circle in her Albert street home.

GREENBERG-ABBOTT NEWS IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. M. Greenberg, of 510 East Moody avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Bertha Greenberg, to George Abbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Abbott, of Royce Road, Allston, Mass.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents, Moody avenue, on Friday, February 21, with Rabbi Gilbert A. Elefant, spiritual leader of the Tifereth Israel Synagogue, officiating. Vows were exchanged at 4:30 o'clock.

EVENING PARTY FOR LONDON BRIDGE CLUB

An evening party for the London Bridge club was held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Chester Sankey on West Washington street, with cards as the pastime. Mrs. Jack Carr, a special guest, received a hostess' remembrance and the "galloner" while the honor trophies went to Mrs. William Rech and Miss Jane Davis.

Lunch was served, and following, plans were made for a special dinner party on March 9, with husbands as honor guests. The regular meeting, however, will be on March 30, with Miss Ellen Melnyak on Smithfield street.

MRS. JOHN MEEHAN HONORED AT PARTY

A lovely party of Thursday evening was given in the home of Miss Gertrude Dagnon on Moore avenue, when she presided in the role of hostess to the girl co-workers of Fisher Brothers Store to honor one of their number, Mrs. John Meehan, nee Edna Myers, a bride of recent date.

Contests in bridge, 500 and bonanza filled in the hours, with prizes falling to Mrs. John Travers, Mrs. Russell Myers and Mrs. Donald Wilson.

Creating much amusement, was presenting of a collection of "white elephants" to the honoree, and later, she was amply rewarded for her good sportsmanship in accepting same, when presented a beautiful electric sweater, in behalf of those surrounding her.

Lunch was the closing feature, the menu being served by the hostess and Miss Mae Dagnon at a table prettily decorated with a floral centerpiece, and twelve lighted candles.

Willing Workers

On Thursday evening, Misses Florrie and Margaret Davies proved charming hostesses to members of the Willing Workers class of the First Congregational church at their home on Waldo street.

HEALTH REVELATIONS

THE chief of the medical division of the conscription set-up at Chicago reports that local board physicians have rejected 32 per cent of conscripts as physically unfit for general military service. Approximately 12 per cent of those passed by the local boards have been rejected by the Army induction boards. But 12 per cent of local board rejections have been ruled by the induction board as fit for limited service, though 20 per cent were listed as unfit for any form of military service.

While these figures appear to be a bit confusing to those who attempt to reach a final and single conclusion as to the physical and mental condition of this proportion of the population, they do indicate that there does exist a condition among this particular age group which invites serious study by health authorities.

Causes for rejections and the percentages of those causes as listed by local boards and the Army are: Teeth, 17 per cent and 22 per cent; cardiovascular system, 13 and 7; musculo-skeletal defects, 10 and 4; eyes, 9 and 13; genitalia, including venereal, 6 and 5; mental and nervous, 6 and 10; ears, nose and throat, 6 and 9; hernia, 5 and 6; feet, 4 and 6; and lungs, 3 and 4. Evidently some of these are incidental and easily cured or removed, while others are of obscure origin but of common incidence.

Whatever may be the conclusions to be drawn from these facts as to conditions of general health, the facts themselves invite study by health authorities. It does not appear that the general condition indicated is alarming, but what is revealed may serve to center peacetime studies for health improvements.

ENFORCING PRICES

There has been much speculation as to just how the United States government will control prices when they threaten to get out of hand in the competitive bidding of the government and of private enterprise for commodities. It is rumored a plan has now been worked out to achieve control.

Price stabilization division of the National Defense Advisory Commission will set a maximum price at which a given commodity should sell, thus fixing a ceiling. The Army and Navy will instruct their purchasing officers to pay no more for that commodity than the price fixed. If military requirements are not filled by voluntary offers to sell at that price, the Army and Navy will have authority to place compulsory orders.

That would make the price ceiling effective as to government purchases. To enforce the ceiling on civilian buying and selling of a commodity, the government would rely on its power to draft industry. The government would commandeer the stocks of any producer or dealer who sold in the general market at a price above the ceiling, turning these seized stocks over to the Army and Navy for their use.

According to administration advisers, the President has ample direct and indirect powers to enforce such a policy.

CUBAN SUGAR LOAN

Preliminary negotiations are under way by which the Export-Import Bank will lend the Cuban government $11,200,000, taking as security some 400,000 tons of Cuban sugar. In effect, the United States is to guarantee the economic structure of Cuba, for that republic is a one-crop country. The price of sugar determines economic conditions there and the political stability of the nation.

Stripped of its essentials this deal means that the Washington government is taking the crop of a foreign nation off the market and extending loans on that crop. There is no real difference between the Cuban project and commodity loans to American cotton and wheat producers.

If this arrangement results in strengthening the price of sugar, the rub will come when domestic sugar producers, and those in Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, bring pressure on Congress to allow them to produce more sugar. Surpluses will then become more burdensome, the price more difficult to support, and the government will eventually have a lot of sugar on its hands.

Should this policy of supporting the prices of foreign products be extended to all of Latin America, Uncle Sam's Treasury will develop more leaks than it ever has before.

FOREIGN TOURS HALTED

For scores of years, America poured each year into Europe a golden tide. On it floated the thousands of tourists who liked to summer on the continent or make the "grand tour" about which they could spend the rest of their lives talking.

But in 1940, for the first time, receipts from visitors to the United States from Europe and the Mediterranean area exceeded what U. S. tourists spent in those areas. Of course the whole thing was very small last year, some $6,000,000 compared to the quarter of a billion which American tourists used to scatter over Europe every year. The amazing thing is that there should have been any such travel at all.

Such losses in trade and intercourse the warring nations of Europe and Asia have not only brought on themselves, but imposed largely on the rest of the world.

National income has now reached $74,000,000,000 annually. But the outgo is easily keeping ahead.

Answering several queries, Easter will be on April 13 this year. It should be a good day for everyone but Dad and his pocketbook.

"Thirty-two million people have now seen 'Gone With the Wind.' It wasn't an ill wind, or at any rate it blew the producers a lot of good.

Indiantown Gap is becoming more than a mere dot on the map of Pennsylvania. It will become the "heart and military center" of the whole state.

If there is any aid to give China, let's spare it. Chiang-Kai-Shek's armies can keep the Japanese busy, if the Far East situation grows hotter.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

EDUCATORS CONSIDER THE INDIVIDUAL

Having visited in many rural and city schools in about a third of the states of the nation during the past five years, I am impressed with the growing emphasis on the child as a person. One observes it in educational speeches and articles. One sees it in the classroom. One senses it in the attitude and remarks of school principals, supervisors and superintendents, as one talks with them or visits schools with them.

Whereas the school official used to talk only about curriculum, methods and administrative machinery, he now tends to talk about school children, how to understand them better, how, moreover, to win the co-operation of the home to this end.

To select one sample, there is Dr. John E. Bryan, Superintendent of the County Schools of Jefferson County, Alabama. He heads the schools of the towns, villages and more remote areas surrounding Birmingham, and has been a state and national leader in education.

I met Dr. Bryan and his wife a few summers ago at the University of Alabama. They had come there to participate in the forums I was conducting for the University on Child Guidance, Family Life and Home-School Relationships. Dr. Bryan told me some things about his work.

Wide Interpretation of Education I soon discovered as we chatted leisurely in the shade one hot afternoon, that he and Mrs. Bryan shared with me a wide interpretation of education, that they thought of it as continuous from birth, with most of it happening outside of school, especially at home. He, Mrs. Bryan and I talked over the possibilities of more parent education as a part of church programs.

Several months later, Mrs. Myers and I conducted a week of forums and lectures in and about Birmingham. We visited in the Bryan home, met their children and enjoyed the unusually companionable family relationship.

One evening, Dr. and Mrs. Bryan drove with me in their car to a meeting of parents, while Mrs. Myers addressed another meeting in the county accompanied by Mrs. Charles Buis, P. T. A. president of the county.

On the way and at the meeting, all the remarks of Dr. Bryan were centered about the child and his family. I also learned that Dr. Bryan spent several evenings a week meeting groups of parents throughout the county and talking with them about their boys and girls at home and school.

In proportion to the money spent on schools, I doubt if any other county in the United States has better buildings, equipment or better trained teachers. Putting the child and his parents always first, Dr. Bryan has inspired the patrons of his county to support the schools wholeheartedly.

We parents are encouraged to learn that so many leaders in the schools are discovering the child and his parents and the home as the first and most influential school.

Solving Parent Problems Q. Writes a child: "I am eight years old. I am in the second grade at school and I have trouble with my reading. I would like to know how to read better."

A. Ask your mother to find you picture books with only a little reading on each page, so easy it is meant for the first grade child. Read from these books at home for fun. If you have a baby brother or sister over two or under six read to him or her. Ask mother also to read to you from harder books every day.

The World and the Mud Puddles

HOW MUCH AND HOW MANY.

It has been a general belief that the citizens of the independent State of Wisconsin were rather Sober. Nevertheless, Wisconsin finds itself in trouble because reports filed in Washington by the Works Project Administration show that there are nine persons on the WPA payroll in Wisconsin who draw salaries from $4000.00 to $6000.00 a year and another twenty-six persons whose annual salaries are from $2100.00 to $4000.00. Now it is rather surprising that there are so many persons on the WPA payroll in Wisconsin drawing these salaries.

There are a great many thousands of persons on the payroll of the WPA in the State of Wisconsin. There are a great many thousands on the payroll of the WPA in every State.

What is it worth to properly direct and handle one hundred thousand workmen? How many bosses and superintendents are needed and what pay should the big bosses draw? There seems to be no yard stick by which to measure the value of a WPA boss. He may be a good man but he is a part of a very inefficient machine. The big bosses don't operate WPA affairs with the idea of getting the most for their money.

I remember very well, back in 1936, being told of a highway bridge that was built by a PWA organization in North Dakota. After the bid for contractors had been opened and it had been found that a contractor would be perfectly delighted to build the bridge for approximately $17,000.00, the PWA (Continued On Page Five)

"Tonight when conscious that I had overstayed my time during a call I said to my host and hostess, 'Too long, and as I went out over the porch, past an open window, I heard her say to him 'Poor girl, she's always so apologetic. She'll probably ask St. Peter's pardon for crashing the gates of Heaven.' Do you think I deserved this?—Ada."

Answer: Either your hostess is a very "catty" person to be hereafter avoided or you have adopted a mental attitude deserving of her criticism. The circumstances you describe most certainly did not deserve such a criticism if an isolated case. But if you habitually excuse yourself for innocent and imaginary peccadilloes you can readily build up for yourself a reputation for being too apologetic and for having an inferiority complex—which affliction invariably repels others.

But it is my observation that during this era of the "liberation of modern youth," apologies are too few rather than too many. Without any apologies at all women are shouldered aside in crowds not only by men but by stronger women and girls; are suffered to stand in street cars while their physical superiors rudely beat them to the seats they have almost sat in; are glared at by waitresses apprised of having brought them the wrong orders and by behind-the-counter salesmen who are reminded of wrapping up the wrong sizes.

Question: Tell me how to instruct my maid in front door etiquette. Our front door opens into a vestibule with no seats. The vestibule opens into a foyer with a large chair and a love seat. The foyer opens into a living room. What is the procedure with agents, friends, relatives?—Housewife.

Answer: If your friends belong to the card-leaving set, you should keep on your foyer table a card tray, a memorandum pad and a pencil for any note to be left by a caller. When your servant answers the door bell, she should appear with the tray in her left hand to receive possible visiting cards.

Agents, if regular collectors and known by your maid to be bona fide, should be brought into the foyer, where they may be seated comfortably to transact business. They should call at the rear entrance of a large estate, but in a home of moderate size, they may properly be admitted at the front door. If when at home you always "receive" callers, they should be shown to the living room, whether you are there or upstairs. If you have only certain days "at home," be sure to inform your servant beforehand on your "not-at-home" days, since it is discourteous for a hostess to have her servant tell a visitor she is not at home after the visitor has sent in her card.

One of the strangers turned to the other with a smile.

"We certainly made a good guess picking this church," he said. "We're right among our own kind."

Prohibition For Soldiers Impractical
Anti-Sabotage Law Is Also Depreciated
Prohibition Idea For All Now Revived

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—As well as the suggestions doubtless are intended, there's considerable complaint from various quarters that some of our pro-defense legislation is impractical and that part of it's outright dangerous.

One plan that is decidedly criticized is Senator Morris Sheppard's, to prohibit the sale of intoxicants to our soldiers, of course including trainees, or bluejackets or marines. The Texas senator likewise has a scheme, which a good many commentators believe would prove ineffective, for protection of doughboys and sailors against immorality temptations.

The talk of anti-strike and anti-sabotage laws also is deprecated in labor circles, at least unless careful provision is made against the slightest abuse of such statutes.

Naturally Senator Sheppard, as the author of the Eighteenth amendment, was the appropriate solon initially to urge a ban on drinks for selectees and enlistees. Objectors to this notion find no fault with the idea of keeping saloons at a distance from camps and warships' landing places. That certainly could be done, they say, but they're of the opinion that a uniformed man, on leave and roving around on the loose, couldn't imaginably be prevented from obtaining liquid refreshments up to the limit of his capacity. The argument is that, even should the bartender turn down his application, the nearest civilian bystander would be absolutely sure to buy his dram for him.

Paraphrasing, advocates of prohibition for everybody are beginning to perk up again. They haven't registered very forcibly yet, but they evidently are hopeful, if we continue long with our present defensive activities.

Vice Another Problem Segregating vice far from our military centers and patrolling its precincts against our soldier boys' entrance into them is a program to which less objection is raised than to Senator Sheppard's anti-alcohol proposition. Nevertheless, there are observers of the problem who contend that attempts at vice's forcible segregation tend to scatter it rather than to keep it segregated, making it even more difficult to control than if it isn't so strictly regulated.

As to anti-strike legislation, labor's thesis is that a worker who chooses to quit his job can't possibly (Continued On Page Five)

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY — Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, chairman of the Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association, voices a truism:

"Any democracy without a free education for all the people cannot long endure."

"I guess the only way to get along with newspapermen is say one thing one day and the direct opposite the next."

MIAMI — Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors Corporation, offers a bit of advice to industry:

"There are so many new things in the world of tomorrow that we should waste no time in speculation of the present, but go out and get them."

WASHINGTON — Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, urges a bit of thought for the future.

"If we are to win the peace, we must make some provision for the unemployment that the peace will inevitably bring with it."

There must be harmony between him and Mr. Hillman if even the pretense of functioning is to be kept. Once they are at odds on a major question, the whole business goes down completely. But suppose he should take issue with Mr. Hillman, whom would Mr. Roosevelt support? Mr. Knudsen knows, and so does everyone else that the President would support the labor leader as against the industrial leader Mr. Roosevelt's long-time hostility to business; the speeches of Mrs. Roosevelt encouraging strikers and urging that employers be "educated," together with the anti-Knudsen campaign being waged by his New Deal aides, ought to be sufficient evidence of the side the President would take. The fact is, he has made it perfectly clear in advance.

OF course, Mr. Knudsen, knowing these things, could resign. But if he did he'd be exposing himself to be put in position of refusing to "cooperate," of lacking in patriotism, of taking a selfish view. In such a controversy, no man could stand up against the White House. Its advantages are too immense. Some weeks ago a friend of Mr. Knudsen, discussing the situation with him, said: "Bill, you're hooked. You can be kicked out, but you can't quit." That is too clear to argue about.

WHAT choice remains for Mr. Knudsen? Only that of going along with Mr. Hillman, agreeing that there should be no labor legislation at this time; asserting that the situation is all right, and hoping that (Continued On Page Five)

UNITY

All things worth while exact their price
In strength of will and sacrifice.

Comfort, but little sows or reaps.
Poor is the watch indifference keeps.

Men must be vigorous and strong
If what is best they'd hold for long.

Men must be willing to endure
To keep the ways of freedom sure.

Now come the days of stress and strain,
When faith must be renewed again;

When nothing matters more than this:
That liberty no friend shall miss;

When men and women, high and low,
The courage of the race must show.

And one and all once more unite
For God, for country and for right!

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Poor Mr. Knudsen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.

A FEW days ago the press reported sixteen separate strikes in industrial plants having defense contracts. Several additional strikes in such plants are threatened and the big strike in the Allis-Chalmers Company, in Wisconsin, with $45,000,000 of defense products to make, which was reported as settled, turns out not to be settled at all.

THIS situation naturally disturbs every thoughtful man in the whole defense organization, but there is, at present, very little that can be done about it. Whenever they are asked about labor conditions, both Mr. Hillman and Mr. Knudsen indicate that everything is lovely. They say there is no real trouble and join in asserting that no new labor legislation is needed. Of course, they both know better.

BUT Mr. Hillman is quite frankly labor's representative on the OPM. He draws a salary as a CIO labor leader. He was put in to "balance industry," and it is what he is doing. Under such conditions, it is foolish to expect Mr. Hillman to agree that these strikes are unjustified; that they are dangerously delaying the program; that the present labor laws should be relaxed or amended. If he so much as hinted at such things, there would be a howl from all the other labor leaders. They would declare he had "sold labor out," that "labor had been betrayed."

NATURALLY, Mr. Hillman vigorously, though inaccurately, insists that labor is in no way to blame. That there are other labor leaders in the former World War, that greedy industry, not labor, is responsible for the work stoppage by which production is being slowed down just when high speed is being called for. Meanwhile, other labor leaders, like Mr. Murray of the CIO, announce a drive to "thoroughly organize the aeroplane industry," and the steel manufacturers under a threat. In brief, the labor leaders, quite clearly, are taking advantage of the crisis to strengthen their hands.

AS for Mr. Knudsen, what can he do? The fact is that Mr. Knudsen is in a trap. For one thing, he isn't the boss; he is only half boss. Under direct order of the President, Mr. Hillman is just as much boss, with just as much authority, as he. Mr. Roosevelt has made that crystal clear. All right. What, then, are Mr. Knudsen's alternatives? If he differs with Mr. Hillman, he risks that labor is capitalizing the emergency, aiding Hitler by retarding production, and that something ought to be done, a split is at once created in the defense management and the dual boss-ship becomes more than ridiculous.

THERE must be harmony between him and Mr. Hillman if even the pretense of functioning is to be kept. Once they are at odds on a major question, the whole business goes down completely. But suppose he should take issue with Mr. Hillman, whom would Mr. Roosevelt support? Mr. Knudsen knows, and so does everyone else that the President would support the labor leader as against the industrial leader Mr. Roosevelt's long-time hostility to business; the speeches of Mrs. Roosevelt encouraging strikers and urging that employers be "educated," together with the anti-Knudsen campaign being waged by his New Deal aides, ought to be sufficient evidence of the side the President would take. The fact is, he has made it perfectly clear in advance.

OF course, Mr. Knudsen, knowing these things, could resign. But if he did he'd be exposing himself to be put in position of refusing to "cooperate," of lacking in patriotism, of taking a selfish view. In such a controversy, no man could stand up against the White House. Its advantages are too immense. Some weeks ago a friend of Mr. Knudsen, discussing the situation with him, said: "Bill, you're hooked. You can be kicked out, but you can't quit." That is too clear to argue about.

"I SUFFERED SO MUCH I DREADED TO EAT"

Retonga Wins Grateful Praise Of Mrs. Martha Schmidt For Prompt Relief After Years Of Suffering. Tells Happy Experience.

"I never dreamed any medicine could relieve my suffering and make me feel as splendid as Retonga did," happily declares Mrs. Martha Schmidt, well known resident of 807 Chautauqua St., Pittsburgh, in a grateful public endorsement of this widely used medicine.

"Indigestion and gas bloating, which often made me feel like I would choke, tortured me until I simply dreaded eating," continues Mrs. Schmidt. "My appetite failed. I had to force down every bite, and I often felt so weak and tired that I thought I would have to give up and go to bed. Constipation forced me to take purgatives regularly. I seemed clogged with toxic poisons, and at times I felt so nervous and bad I just sat down and cried."

Retonga is a purely herbal stomachic medicine, combined with Vitamin B-1, and is intended to increase the flow of gastric juices in the stomach, help nature remove toxic wastes from the bowels, and tone nerves, strength and digestion. Thousands praise it. Retonga may be obtained at Pay Less Drug Store.

BERLIN REPORT ASSAILS EARLE

Accuses U. S. Minister To Bulgaria Of Making "False Statements"

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Feb. 28—Diplomatic Correspondence, semi-official publication of the German foreign office, today had accused George H. Earle, United States minister to Bulgaria, of making "false statements" in connection with his recent cable battle in Sofia.

The publication sharply assailed American diplomats in general, Earle, the circular said, ranks with "Dodd, Bullitt and Biddle".

The late William E. Dodd was United States ambassador to Berlin. William C. Bullitt was formerly ambassador to France and Anthony J. Drexel Biddle envoy to Warsaw.

The foreign office publication called Earle's behavior in the Sofia night club "provocative and uncivilized".

"Not only did he reveal bad manners, but he lacked the courage to tell the truth to Washington," Diplomatic Correspondence said. "Obviously he withheld from his official report the fact that he ordered 'Tipperary' to be played and started a row with a German guest."

(Editor's Note: In his report to Washington, Earle reported fully on the entire incident, making no secret of the fact that he asked the band to play "Tipperary". He pointed out that as an American citizen in a neutral country he was within his rights for asking the orchestra to play anything he wished.)

MRS. JAMES GILFILLAN ENTERTAINS E. T. W.

Members of the E. T. W. Kensington were graciously received in the home of Mrs. James Gilfillan on the Pulaski road Thursday afternoon.

Afternoon hours were enjoyed in needlework, and plans were made for a luncheon in an out of town tea room on March 20.

Miss Idagenne Mitchell entertained at the opening of the program with several piano solos. Miss Betty Jane Cope presented an entertaining reading.

"Meet the Family," was the title of the play, and the following cast scored a hit with their acting: Harold McEwen, Harold Blewitt, Harry McClintock, Jim Mitchell, Maxine Mercer, Diana Elder, Eileen Waite and Bernice Taylor.

Marjorie Cornelius was in charge of the stage properties. Ushers were: Agnes Walter and Nora Mae Potts. At the close of the play, flowers were presented to Mrs. William Winkler in appreciation of her work in directing the play. Refreshments were served, with Mrs. G. S. Bennett and Mrs. Percy Walls pouring.

German Unit Is Driven Back In Clash In Africa

(International News Service)
CAIRO, Feb. 28—The first German mechanized unit to make its appearance in Northern Africa was driven back by a British mechanized patrol, British military headquarters announced today.

"Advanced elements" of the British forces routed the German detachment, which consisted of a reconnaissance unit and armored fighting units it was said.

The clash occurred west of El Agheila, most extreme westerly point of the British occupation in Libya. It was announced, not at Agadabia, east of El Agheila as claimed in Berlin.

(Editor's Note: Rome and Berlin communiques claimed a German victory, asserting that several British armored cars were captured and a number of prisoners taken.)

There seems to be very little marrying going on at the present time. Whether this is due to the fact that a great many contemplating such action, did so before the present law requiring a medical examination went into effect, and the rush preceding the enactment of the Selective Service Act, or whether Dan Cupid has been falling down on the job is not known. So far this week, however, there have only been four marriage licenses issued.

When

The current week, which has been an unusually quiet one around the court house, lived up today with divorce hearings and desertion and non-support cases today, followed by sentence court tomorrow, to live things up a bit.

Quite a number of prisoners who have pleaded guilty are scheduled to appear for sentence tomorrow morning, it is stated.

Summons in trespass has been filed in the office of Prothonotary
John A. Edgar, by Carrie D. Getty against Teddy DeMarch, returnable the first Monday in April. The order approved by the court directs the sheriff of Butler county to serve the same at the post office of the defendant in Forrest-ville, Butler county.

One of the busiest offices in the court house is that of County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer, who is getting ready for the 1935 tax sales.
There will be no breathing spell, however, after this is out of the way, as the county tax duplicates will be ready after that, and notices will be sent to all tax payers.
Then the business of gathering in the shekels for the county will get under way in earnest. A large force of clerks is now busy in the office of the county commissioners getting the duplicates ready.

Thumbs down on "AGED" beef!

KROGER'S TENDERAY is FRESH & TENDER!

"Age" in all foods, beef included, results in definite losses of precious Fresh Food Values!

Tenderay beef is the result of nearly four years of painstaking research by Westinghouse and The Kroger Food Foundation Fellowship at Mellon Institute. In Tenderay, science skillfully applies "split-second" control to a vastly accelerated working of Nature's own tendering methods, inducing tenderness but retaining the undened values of fresh beef.

KROGER'S TENDERAY BEEF

GUARANTEED TENDER . . . NEVER PREMIUM PRICED . . .

TENDERAY SPEEDS UP NATURAL TENDERING 14 TIMES, OUTMODES WASTEFUL AGEING, CONSERVES VALUABLE JUICES, REDUCES LOSS OF NATURAL VITAMINS. Kilgallen Pays Tribute To Capt. Rickenbacker

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—News that Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who, as America's "ace of aces" in the World War had defied death many times, had been critically injured in Georgia while on a routine peacetime flight in a passenger plane, came as a profound shock to "Rick's" army of friends, on Thursday.

Rickenbacker is an unusual man—a stand-out personality. Kind, big-hearted, brave and very modest, he makes friends wherever he goes—from the lowliest mechanic to the biggest business tycoon. He might be described as "a man's man." But he is more than that.

It was the irony of fate that this man who as a youth was a daring automobile race driver and later the greatest single American menace to the ex-kaiser's air birds in the World War No. 1, was to meet his first serious crash in a clump of woodland in Georgia.

Absolutely Fearless
Why, "Rick" had courted danger countless times. He always seemed to be absolutely fearless, meeting perilous situations with a smile on his rugged face. There was no one quite like him in the World War. He was our "ace," and his exploits thrilled the nation. His name was in the page one headlines time and again back in those stirring days of 1917-18.

He was officially credited with bringing down 35 enemy planes. Even the Germans held him in the highest respect. Among the honors he received were the Croix de Guerre with 4 palms, the Legion of Honor medal, a D.S.C. with 9 oak leaves and the Congressional Medal of Honor.

He has had, in recent years, supreme confidence in the safety of commercial aviation. Not because he was now the general manager of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., but because he knew the airplane as he knew the automobile when it first came into vogue.

Aviation His Business
Since the war he had made aviation his business, keeping abreast of the lightning changes and advances in civil and military flying. He studied the social aspects of the industry, and once the geography of the nation by making the remotest parts of the country accessible.

As the European war developed, Rickenbacker was in the vanguard of those who warned that America must safeguard her defenses. Actually, Eddie Rickenbacker—born Edward Vernon Rickenbacker, in Columbus, O., on October 8, 1890—lived three careers in one.

From 1910 to 1917 his name was synonymous with all that was skillful, daring and courageous at America's principal automobile racing tracks. He was one of the great auto racing drivers of all time.

During the war he led America's famous "Hat in the Ring" (94th) Aero Squadron in France. It was in those days that he downed 25 German planes, and was so significantly honored.

In the final phase of his career he achieved equal distinction in the field of commercial aviation and was recognized as one of the most influential and articulate leaders of the industry.

Often in recent months, as this nation sped up its preparedness program, his advice was sought by military leaders. He was always definite in his views which, of course, were backed up by actual experience.

"I have no fear of invasion," he declared. "This nation will be prepared to defend anything within 2,000 miles of its shores. But we are going to have to build thousands and thousands of bombers that can travel 300 miles an hour and range to Europe, drop their loads of destruction and return."

Rickenbacker's interest from the beginning—even as a small boy—was in motors. He could scarcely wait to complete his elementary school education before enrolling in a correspondence school course in engineering and drafting.

This led to a job with the Frayer-Miller Air-Cooled Car company in Columbus. He learned all about building cars and then took a position in the sales division.

Later, he was associated with Firestone, Duesenberg, the Mercer company and the Maxwell Motor Car company, driving their cars over the race tracks of the country. He was one of the featured attractions at the annual Memorial day racing grinds on the Indianapolis speedway.

Enlists In Service
Suddenly in 1917, while preparing a racing team for an English motor company, he dropped his plans and enlisted. This was a month before the United States declared war on Germany.

In France, his driving reputation preceded him and his first job was as chauffeur for Gen. John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American forces.

Two months later, at his own request, Rickenbacker was transferred to the aviation section of the signal corps and sent to Tours for his preliminary training.

Rickenbacker quickly proved to be "a natural" as a flyer. His experience as a skilled racing driver stood him in good stead. He found himself appointed chief engineering officer at the Issoudun aviation school, and finally went into active duty with the 94th Aero Squadron.

(This was the first American aero unit to participate in actual combat on the western front and was credited with 69 victories—the largest number of any American aviation unit in the World War.)

"Rick" became a terror to the Germans. They tried to "get him" time and again. But he seemed to bear a charmed life.

In September, 1918, he became commander of the squadron, with the rank of captain.

After the war Rickenbacker returned to his first love—automobiles—as vice president of the Rickenbacker motor car company. While the car bearing his name pioneered in such features as four-wheel brakes, the public appeared apathetic.

The company dissolved and Rickenbacker joined the Cadillac Motor Car company as assistant sales manager. Later he was transferred by General Motors to the General Aviation Manufacturing corporation as vice president and director of sales.

"Rick" never left the aviation industry after that. In 1933 he became an executive of North American Aviation, Inc., and two years later was made general manager of Eastern Air Lines.

Grove City College Professor Is Hurt

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Feb. 28.—Dr. Wilbur Collings, of the Grove City College faculty, was released from the Jameson Hospital, New Castle, yesterday, apparently fully recovered from an unusual accident, causing a dislocation of a spinal vertebra. He slipped and fell on an icy sidewalk, without apparent injury, but an hour later, as he was shoveling coal into his furnace stoker, the vertebra slipped out of place. The injury was painful and severe, but responded to X-ray treatment.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker Is Expected To Recover

Condition Is Still Serious

Investigation Of Georgia Crash Fatal To Seven Is Under Way

ONE OF INJURED MAY NOT SURVIVE

By WILLIAM J. GOOD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 28.—Although doctors at Piedmont hospital reported his condition to be "still serious," Gallant Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, America's ace of aces during the World War, promised his legions of friends, the world over today that "I'll be out of here in a few days."

Capt. Rickenbacker suffered multiple external injuries when a luxury sleeper plane of Eastern Airlines, of which he is president, hurtled into a wooded knoll some five miles southeast of the Atlanta airport early yesterday. Seven persons, including the crew of three, were killed, and nine, including Rickenbacker, were injured.

This morning, the nurse in attendance on Rickenbacker's floor said he passed a "very restful" night and that his condition was somewhat improved although still listed as serious.

Expected To Recover

The famous war flyer suffered a fractured left hip broken rib, fractured nose and contusions over the right eye, but should recover fairly rapidly, doctors stated, unless internal injuries are found.

"The possibilities of internal injuries must always be considered in cases of this kind," a hospital spokesman said.

Last night it had been hoped Capt. Rickenbacker would be able to receive newsmen today, but this, hospital authorities said, was extremely doubtful.

One of the other injured passengers was considered in extremely critical condition. He was C. M. Tappen, a Long Island, N. Y., attorney, who sustained grave back injuries.

All the other patients, including H. A. Littlefield, assistant to the managing editor of the New York Times, the only other passenger considered seriously hurt, were pronounced out of danger and recovering.

A three-way investigation of the crash and its causes was in the hands of four officials of the Civil Aeronautics board, representatives of Eastern Airlines, and local authorities.

Public hearings will be delayed until next week, when the investigators hoped to receive first hand accounts from survivors. At the same time, it appeared a public senate investigation of the accident will be held in Washington.

Armchair Thinker Most Convincing

(International News Service)
STATE COLLEGE, Feb. 28.—The fellow who does his thinking alone in his armchair may be a more convincing orator than the one who gets his ideas from the crowd on the street-corner, according to studies made at the Pennsylvania State college.

Groups of students were asked to write argumentative speeches immediately after periods of silent reflection and immediately after periods of open group discussion, and in the majority of cases the more effective speeches were induced by the silent periods.

"Not only were the debates more effectively written after the writer had thought the subject through alone, but the writer's verbal output was greater also," said Joseph F. O'Brien, associate professor of public speaking at the college.

St. Patrick's Day Banquet To Be Held

Knights Of Columbus Organization To Have Banquet-Program On March 17

A St. Patrick's Day banquet and program is being planned by the Knights of Columbus organization to be held for the members and prospective members, on Monday evening, March 17, at 6 o'clock.

Grand Knight, Francis J. Augustine will be the toastmaster, and William Howley is the banquet chairman.

Rev. Fr. Enright of St. Bede's church, Pittsburgh, who recently returned from Ireland will be the principal speaker and will show moving pictures that were taken in Ireland on his trip. Other forms of entertainment will be featured.

Sergeant Owen E. Tighe, is the general chairman, and Joseph Flynn is the assistant chairman, and John V. Gallagher, secretary. Those on the reception committee are: James Agan, chairman; Luke Egan, Richard Hannon and John Carlin; decoration committee—Edgar J. Reig, chairman; Francis J. Augustine, Richard Burke and Joseph Hannon; kitchen—Mrs. Rose Tighe, chair-lady; Mrs. Francis J. Augustine, Mrs. Hugh Dougherty, Catherine Reig and Catherine Nugent.

Employ Odd Stunt To Cheat Meters

File Tops Off Yale Keys And Then Deposit Them In Meters

Some autoists go to extremes in an effort to "beat the meters" following police court today.

He said that meter operatives had found in the meters, the top, or round part of Yale keys. They had been filed off.

He also said that other kind of slugs also have been deposited in the meters.

There is a severe fine for using a slug.

If a policeman passes a car and sees a slug in the rear of the meter, naturally, the autoist is suspected.

In this connection there arose a peculiar incident today.

An autoist found some "free time" and drove into the meter stall. The meter had been "slugged."

A meter operative indicated to the autoist he had used a slug. The autoist visited Mayor Mayne and told of the circumstances.

However, police have been instructed to pay keen attention to meters in the hope of catching anyone who may use a slug.

ROUND WORM MORE COMMON THAN TAPEWORM

Everyone knows about the intestinal parasites we call "worms," for I think that at one time or another most adults have had them. The word "worm" as applied to children has come to be more or less a general thing, and many people forget that there are many kinds of worms, some worse than others.

I think what we ordinarily call "round worms"—Ascaris Lumbricoides, to be scientific—are probably as serious as any of these parasitic afflictions. Certainly, they are much more common than the more spectacular tapeworm.

Round worms look very much like the ordinary dew worm you catch before going fishing. They measure four to eight inches in length and are about a quarter of an inch in diameter. Their color ranges from dirty grey to yellowish red.

The eggs of these worms are laid in moist earth or water, and often when we eat fruits or vegetables that haven't been properly washed we swallow the eggs as well. Once within the human intestinal tract, the thick outer coating that protects the egg breaks off and the parasite is freed.

At this stage, the worm may pass through the intestinal wall, enter the liver, and then pass into the lungs, where it is coughed up and swallowed again. By this time it has reached the adult stage and, as I have said, resembles a dew worm. Sometimes children are afflicted with round worms for long periods and never seem to be bothered by them. Others react very definitely, showing extreme pallor, lassitude, vomiting and even convulsions. A few times I have been called to see children who showed all the symptoms of meningitis. When the worms are passing through the lungs, asthmatic attacks and severe coughing often result. At times worms are vomited up. The worms sometimes appear in great numbers in the bowel. I remember once being called into the operating room of a hospital to see a child whose bowel had been completely stopped up by a mass of worms, making an operation necessary. Occasionally, too, the worms may cause abscess in the liver as they pass through it, or they may cause choking by obstructing the larynx. Fortunately, such cases are not very common.

It seems to me that we don't see as many cases of these round worms as we used to. In fact, every child used to fall a victim to them. I don't know why this change would take place unless it is that we have a greater regard for cleanliness than we had a few years ago.

In loving memory of my husband, Earl L. Pritchett, who died Feb. 28, 1940.

No one knows the silent heartaches. Only those who have lost can tell the grief that is born in silence. For the one I loved so well.

STRUCK ON HEAD

Mrs. Ellen Cook, aged 40, of 314 Green street, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, for injuries on the head, said to have been received when she was struck by someone in a West Washington street luncheon. She was able to leave the hospital after receiving treatment.

St. David's Day Banquet Saturday

Plans are now complete for the St. David's Day banquet to be held Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the dining hall of the Epworth Methodist church, East Washington street.

Emrys Davies of Mercer, formerly of this city, will lead the group singing, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Turner.

In addition to the program already announced, Griff Thomas will make a short address on the subject "St. David's Day."

MAY ADD MORE TO W. P. A. ROLLS

As Many As 20,000 Additional May Get Jobs In Spring, Is Report

 By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—As many as 20,000 persons may be added to the federal work-relief rolls in Pennsylvania with the advent of spring, W. P. A. sources today indicated.

The increase in the W. P. A. rolls, which have steadily fallen for the last 20 weeks, would tend to remove approximately 50,000 relief dependents from the state's public assistance rolls, in the estimation of state relief officials.

The savings to the state would approximate $500,000 a month or $6,000,000 a year, relief officials pointing out that the average dollar to persons on relief is $2.40 a week.

Secretary of Public Assistance Howard L. Russell expressed pleasure when informed by International News Service of the anticipated increase.

"If such an increase in W. P. A. employment occurs, it will be of great help in reducing the state-financed relief burden," he stated. "He would more than welcome such a move."

INCOME TAX IN A NUTSHELL

DEDUCTION FOR LOSSES OTHER THAN FROM SALE OR EXCHANGE OF CAPITAL ASSETS

Deductions for losses are divided into four classes, and to be allowed must follow closely the wording of the income-tax law. Losses are deductible if incurred (1) in the taxpayer's trade, business, or profession; (2) in any transaction entered into for profit; (3) from fires, storms, shipwreck, or other casualties, or from theft; and (4) from wagering transactions.

Business losses result, usually, from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used solely for business purposes, and which is sold at a loss. As this is a business proposition from start to finish, the loss is deductible, subject to the limitations of section 117 as amended. But if he had purchased the automobile for pleasure or convenience, the deduction would not be allowed; it was not a transaction entered into for profit.

A loss sustained in the theft of an automobile purchased for pleasure or convenience is deductible, as it falls in class 3. If, because of faulty driving but not of "willful negligence," an automobile maintained for pleasure is damaged, the taxpayer may claim the loss sustained, as it comes within the meaning of the word "casualty." Where damages result from the faulty driving of an automobile with which the automobile of the taxpayer collides, the loss occasioned the taxpayer likewise is deductible.

Losses from wagering transactions, whether legal or illegal, are deductible only to the extent of gains from such transactions. The excess of such losses over the gains is not deductible.

All losses are deductible only to the extent to which they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

Ban On Convoys Urged By Senator

Senator Maloney Otherwise Supports Passage Of
Lease-Lend Bill

WILL NOT VOTE TO SEND TROOPS ABROAD

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—A charge by Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., that the lease-lend bill will strip American defenses, lead to war, and result in dictatorship, today drew a plea from Sen. Maloney (D) Conn., not to tie President Roosevelt's hands in a grave world crisis.

The speeches of the opposing senators highlighted the 11th day of debate on the measure with Wheeler passionately demanding rejection of the bill, Maloney asking for its passage with only one further revision—a ban on convoys.

Wheeler, leader of the non-intervention bloc in congress, denounced the bill as a measure which will "strip us of our defense, invite the chief executive to plunge the country into war, and create a dictatorship."

The Montana member argued that the legislation is unconstitutional and that under its terms congress would virtually abdicate in favor of the president.

Maloney said:

"In the recent election campaign I declared time and again that I would not vote to send our soldiers to participate in a foreign war. I will keep that pledge—but I will not go beyond my congressional responsibility in order to tie the hands of the commander-in-chief of our forces, nor shall I help to bind and gag my country by public declaration that I would refuse to fight if subjected to unwarranted insult or assault or attack."

Before Wheeler began his speech, Sen. Lodge (R) Mass., introduced a measure to make $2,000,000,000 in credits available immediately to give the senate further time to consider the lease-lend bill.

Dies As Result Of Taking Poison

Police Report Man Swallows Poison In Glass Of Beer At Cafe

Maurey Anderson Hartman, aged 39 years, of 303 Hillcrest avenue, died in the New Castle hospital at 6 o'clock Thursday evening after he is said to have drunk poison placed in a glass of beer in a cafe at 339 South Croton avenue.

Lieut. of Police John G. Moore was called at 5:30 o'clock by George Griffith, stating that a man had taken poison in the cafe, and Officer Lockhart was sent to the scene. He found Hartman in a serious condition and took him to the New Castle hospital, accompanied by J. G. Thompson of R. F. D. No. 4. Hartman is said to have suffered several convulsions on the way to the hospital and died shortly after being admitted.

William Bevan and James Mills, who were with Hartman, said that he had told them he was going to take poison, and saw him place the contents of a small bottle in his glass of beer. They thought that Hartman was only joking, they stated.

Hartman is said to have obtained the poison at a drug store by stating he wanted to make it with rolled oats to kill rats. No motive for Hartman's act was learned by the police or Coroner Nugent who was informed by the hospital of Hartman's death.

The deceased was born in DuBois, Pa., on September 6, 1901, son of Edwin L. and May Anderson Hartman. He leaves two children, William and Donald, of Pittsburgh; his mother, Mrs. May Hartman, this city; two sisters, Mrs. H. E. Pitzer of New Castle, Mrs. C. F. Michels of Cincinnati, and one brother, Marx P. Hartman, Chicago.

The body has been removed to the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where private funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Castle View Burial park.

Six Replacements For County Board 2

Will Be Inducted Into Army
Service At Pittsburgh
On Wednesday

Lawrence County draft board No. 2 today announced the name of replacements for the six men who were rejected on February 25.

The group will be inducted on Wednesday at induction station No. 5, old post office building, Smithfield street and Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh.

The board requests that the men report to the board's headquarters, 621 Lawrence Saving & Trust Building, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to receive final orders.

The list follows:
 Everett Frank McKnight, R. D. 2, New Wilmington; Joseph Everett Wallace, Pulaski; Louis Samuel Omtli, Box 25, Hillsville; James Pressley Lutton, R. D. 7, New Castle; Andy Boyd, Box 42, Bessemer; George Tony Dudas, R. D. 3, New Castle.

Because one or more of the men named above may not be accepted at the induction station, the following men may be required as replacements:

Joe Retort, Edensburg, Pa.; John Brabo, R. D. 1, Edensburg; Arnold Edgar Blews, R. D. 3, New Castle; Harry Harrison Young, Jr., R. D. 2, Enon Valley; Thomas Robb, Box 34, Hillsville; William Walter McKim, Cecil Ave., R. D. 2, New Castle.

Contagious Case Hospital Will Be Torn Down Soon

Council To Remove Small Hospital Building On Golf Course Grounds

City council has authorized the demolition of the Contagion hospital situated on the Sylvan Heights golf course which was built in 1920. According to Dr. W. L. Steen, health officer for the city, only six persons were patients in the hospital and all of them were there during the first three years.

The structure was built and remodelled to accommodate different types of cases. During the administration of Fred L. Rantz it was outfitted as a miniature hospital, the city home then occupying the golf course site. However from time to time the beds and other requirements for such a hospital have been removed and of recent years it has been used as a storage house. Because it is located on the golf course proper it was decided to remove the structure which will be done before the playing season begins.

Carbon paper used in typewriting is produced in U. S. factories to the extent of nearly $12,000,000 annually, according to the Census. Typewriter and other ink ribbons have a factory value of nearly $7,500,000.

ing Course

Seventy-three per cent of the men completing the course at the National Defense Training school in the New Castle Trade school building, Lutton street, have been given employment in private industry. Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green revealed today.

The national average for placements by such schools is 60 per cent. Of 120 finishing training, 89 have been hired by plants. Dr. Green was informed by Earle M. Cass, director of vocational education. Right now 41 more are taking the course. Twenty-eight started training but failed to finish the course, for one reason or another.

Thirty-eight thousand persons use England's indoor ice skating rinks each winter in normal times.

Graduates of all county high schools in the class of 1941 will be eligible to compete for a four-year scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh, which will be awarded to some student by the Perry S. SIX BUILDINGS NOW UNDER ROOF

Construction Work At Boy's Experience Work Center Is Progressing

On entering the Boys' Experience Work Center at Cunningham park Thursday it could be seen that six of the erected buildings have been covered with heavy roofing paper.

Some 69 boys and 18 carpenters were at work Thursday.

Engineer John Shuler states that concrete foundations, amounting to 24 cubic yards, have been completed for the truss type prefabricated steel machine shop, which will be 112 by 40 feet.

Excavation is going forward preparatory to forming the cement foundation of the other machine shop, which will also be of fabricated steel.

Work is under way on the installation of 6x6 inch crosstie treated foundation posts for the dining hall and kitchen wing. The boys are excavating the vegetable cellar, located beneath the kitchen site. Excavation work has begun of the foundation post holes, for the administration building, which will be 80 by 20 feet.

Within a few days excavations for the two remaining buildings will begin, namely, the infirmary and staff cottage. Each of these buildings is 60 by 20 feet in size.

A power shovel for digging sanitary sewer trenches has been requisitioned, delivery of which is expected in about a week's time.

The fire extinguishers that have arrived are each being encased in a wooden box, packed around with sawdust, for protection against freezing, but so arranged for easy access in case of fire.

Owen Fox, city forester, has made arrangements to supervise the removal in a few days of small dogwood trees that are on the site of the laundry and garage. These trees will be planted in a new location.

Joe Craig, labor foreman, stated that the floor, wall and roof panels will have been brought from the storage room at the old nail mill to the project by tomorrow.

Former Resident; Now In Navy Makes Brief Visit Here

Gail Brown, a former resident of this city but now of Santiago, Cal., is in the city on his way to Philadelphia, where he will be located for some time. Mr. Brown has been in the United States navy for the past sixteen years, being with the Pacific fleet, but has been assigned to the U. S. S. Washington which is under construction at the Philadelphia navy yards and which will be one of the finest battleships afloat. He will likely be connected with the Atlantic fleet.

During his service in the navy Mr. Brown has been all over the world, spending over two years in China but most of the time in Honolulu. He was accompanied east by his stepson Roy Bordeaux, who is in the aviation service, and he also has been transferred to Philadelphia.

Mr. Brown is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Brown, who for many years resided on Hillcrest avenue, but who for the past two years have been residents of California. He is also a nephew of City Clerk C. Ed. Brown and has other relatives in New Castle.

Christmas Seal Fund Quota Exceeded Here

Complete tallies of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society Christmas Seal fund indicate that a substantial sum, over and above the $4,500 quota set for the year has been obtained.

According to Miss Della A. Glenn, secretary for the society, a total of $4,583.85 has been received for the 1941 work of the organization in fighting tuberculosis.

All of this money has been secured, by the society, through the sale of Christmas Seals in a campaign headed by Andrew Dodds, deputy county controller.

Although the quota has been reached and the seal sale drive closed, persons who have failed to make remittances for seals may still do so. Miss Glenn stated today, "The more money received by the society, the more work it will be enabled to do, both in the early discovery of tuberculosis and the cure and prevention of the disease."

The Lawrence County Tuberculosis society carries on a worthwhile program throughout the 12 months of the year, but a drive for funds is only held once a year, at Christmas time.

During 1940, the tuberculosis society carried on a health-giving program from its offices in the Lawrence Savings & Trust company building. Figures for the 1940 work were compiled this week and have been announced as follows:

Health education, $674.48.
Early case finding, $896.08.
Material relief, $203.06.
Administration, $591.05.
Seal sale cost, $500.91.

Distribution of milk, shoes, other articles of clothing and the like is represented under the material relief figure. The total cost for the Christmas Seals is represented under the seal sale cost, as is the postage and clerical work necessary to carry on the annual sale.

Labor Heads Meet County Officials On Food Stamp Plan

County Commissioners Asked To Endorse Plan To Aid People Getting Assistance

Lawrence county commissioners Geo. H. Bolinger, W. R. Walton and Joseph F. Travers, were visited by a delegation representing the labor interests of Lawrence county this morning in behalf of the food stamp plan, which it is proposed to create here, and which the sponsors assert will enable all persons receiving federal aid of any kind, to receive fifty per cent more food and commodities. Endorsement of the plan by the county commissioners, pending enactment of an enabling law by the state legislature is being sought.

Those in the delegation were—Ralph Audino and Norman A. Freeborne, representing the American Federation of Labor and Tom Carey of Ellwood City, field representative of the C. I. O., who asserted that labor is unanimously in favor of the plan.

It is necessary to set up a revolving fund of $30,000 which is based on the relief load here, to finance the plan, and when the stamps which purchase these commodities are redeemed by the government in payment for the surplus commodities, the money reverts back to the revolving fund again.

The spokesmen stated that the county would not have to put up any money themselves, but that the proposal could not be adopted without their approval. County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., was not present, and the commissioners stated they would not like to give a definite answer in the matter, pending his opinion on the legality of the proposal.

School Students Given Tuberculin Tests In County

Tuberculosis Society Follows
Up Tuberculin Testing
With X-Rays

Miss Della A. Glenn, secretary of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, today announced that the high school examination project to discover tuberculosis is nearing an end.

All students in the county's high schools were given an opportunity to receive the tuberculin test, free of charge. According to the society report, 1,592 students were tested.

Of the number tested, 136 students or 8.5 per cent, showed positive reactions. Notices were sent to these students and they were given an opportunity to be X-rayed by the society free of cost. To date, only 100 of the number have been X-rayed.

Miss Glenn today set March 15 as the date limit for the remaining students to have X-ray pictures taken. Arrangements for the pictures may be made at the tuberculosis society office, room 219, Lawrence Savings & Trust Company Building.

Miss Glenn stressed the fact that there will be no charge of any kind, and also that there is no use taking the tuberculin test if the positive reactors do not follow up the test with an X-ray. This offer made by the tuberculosis society provides a wonderful opportunity for the students to find out definitely whether or not tuberculosis exists.

SEEK TO SETTLE DEFENSE STRIKES

Government Officials Await Outcome Of Negotiations
At Two Industrial Centers

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, JR.
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Government officials today were awaiting the outcome of negotiations which they hoped would terminate strikes in two big defense industry plants and bring labor amity in another.

William S. Knudsen, director general, and Sidney Hillman, associate director of the office of production management, expressed hope there latest move to terminate the strike at Bethlehem Steel company's Lackawanna, N. Y., plant would send the employees back to work there before nightfall.

Their proposal, made in a telegram to company officials and heads of the CIO's steel workers organizing committee, called for full reinstatement of all employees and an immediate conference between management and workers on all misunderstandings and grievances. The OPM took it upon itself to negotiate with the National Labor Relations board on the question of an election at Lackawanna to determine a bargaining agency, one of the demands made by the strikers.

Hillman also was scheduled to confer with R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers Union, and Richard Frankenstein, organizer, in an effort to settle the long dispute at the Allis-Chalmers plant at West Allis, Wis. He said he hoped to make an "important announcement" during the day regarding the Wisconsin plant, which has $45,000,000 of defense orders.

Meanwhile labor conciliators are in the field in Detroit where the UAW has filed a notice that it will call a strike against the Ford Motor company.

EFFECT OF MORATORIUM

(International News Service)
BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 28.—The moratorium on debts of army draftees, decreed by the federal government, in all probability will have only the slightest effect upon business selling on credit, the University of California legislative review has decided. The review was prepared for the benefit of California state legislators.

Census records show that approximately 105 boy babies are born to 100 girl babies. Thus the U.S. figures are about the same as world figures.

PLAYWRITING CONTEST OPENS

(Special To The News)

BEAVER Falls, Feb. 28.—The Frill and Dagger Society of Geneva College has announced its third annual playwriting contest, which will close on April 15. This contest is open to the general public. Qualifications for it are very simple: manuscripts submitted must be original and unpublished one-act plays confined to a playing time of less than 40 minutes.

A person may submit as many manuscripts as he pleases. A first prize of $10 will be awarded the winner by a committee of judges consisting of Miss Lois Allen, of the English Department, Dr. Homer Blanchard, of the German Department, and George McCalmon, of the Speech Department.

The Frill and Dagger usually produces the first three prize plays, and if a manuscript merits publication, the society will make every attempt to have it published. If a play is published the author retains the acting and publishing rights.

Census records show 5,005 cases of the birth of triplets in the U.S. in 23 years. Triplets occur only once in every 8,800 times.

News Briefs

From City Hall

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen today stated he had received information from state authorities at Albany, N. Y., that the Harry McCreary arrested February 18, in a gasoline station at Beaver and West Washington street is a parole violator of New York state. The information was immediately transmitted to Sheriff M. M. Ingham, because McCreary is now in the county jail. McCreary was born in Maryland and is not a New Castle resident, it was reported.

Several meters have been robbed during the past several days, according to information at police headquarters.

City council has authorized the demolition of the building known as the contagious hospital at Sylvan Heights golf course.

Council has been asked by the League of Cities of the third class to express an opinion relative to a building concerning annexation by cities of second class townships. According to the measure it would be necessary for a majority vote in the townships prior to annexation, instead of as present, a court procedure.

WAMPUM BATTLES MIDLAND CAGERS IN TOURNNEY TUFF

WPIAL Tourney Game Tonight Is Booked For Beaver Falls High Floor

GAME TO BEGIN AT 8 O'CLOCK

PROBABLE LINEUP

Wampum: Frank, Rosstone, Smith, C. Alston, Hervatine, G. DiCiccione, Johnson, G. Molchan. Resolved to add another page to an illustrious basketball story, Wampum High's Section 20 kingly pins face Midland High, Section 11 standard bearer, in a first round Class B WPIAL tourney fray booked for Beaver Falls High gym tonight at 8 o'clock.

The stout-hearted Wampum five, which electrified district hoop fans by copping the sectional banner despite the fact that it lacked a home floor, stacks up against a veteran valley combination which has been installed as one of the favorites to cart away the prize.

Midland, winner of 14 consecutive league triumphs, is spearheaded by Dave Alston, a 6 foot 1 athlete. The towering center is definitely the man of the hour tonight. By "bottling" Alston, Wampum will short circuit the major part of Midland's attack.

Sammy Rosstone, who fills in at either guard or forward, is Alston's sidekick. Combined, the pair represents Midland's trouble shooters. Smith, DiCiccione and Molchan round out a smooth functioning quintet.

Wampum's hopes of romping off the spacious court on the winning end hinge on Coy Craine, wily colored speedster, and Archie Frank, a crack shot. Craine and Frank have played a merry tune with the mesh throughout the season. Steve Hervatine, the best Class B guard in the county, will be another important factor. Steve reportedly is not in tip top shape, nursing an injured ankle. His absence would be greatly felt.

Coach L. B. Henson, who watched Midland sink Monaca a few nights ago, readily admits that his proteges face a stiff assignment. "I have a gang of fighters who refuse to give up. Even if we lose, I am sure Midland will know it has been in a tough battle," the popular mentor said today.

Regarding the defensive end of the game, Coach Henson contemplates using a combination zone and man for man. Because of the large size of the court, Henson hinted that he may instruct his team to employ a zone defense throughout the game.

Wampum followers are all agog as the Indians prepare for their first crack at the Class B WPIAL title. Reports indicate that the Section 20 champs will have plenty of rosters.

St. Vitus Trims K. Pulaski Five

The St. Vitus basketball team, New Castle church league champions, at the K. Pulaski hall last night nosed out the Pulaski Big Five by a score of 43 to 38.

The Pulaskis had a lead of 14 to 6 soon after the game got under way, and it looked as if the winning streak of the Saints was going to end, but the church league boys turned on the heat and led at the half, 21 to 16. In the second half the South Side boys played coolly and cleverly to upset a hard fighting Pulaski team.

GROVERS-THEL Two of the most bitter athletic rivals in the district, Thiel and Grove City, square off in a county collegiate title battle carded for Greenville tonight.

Robinson Has Not Lost Here

Johnny Como And Marion Klingensmith, Middle-weight Sluggers, Meet

HOPE SONNY TED BATTLE COMES OFF

Smokey Robinson, flashy, ebony-hued 130 pounder, or junior lightweight champion of the A. A. U., eastern section, has been coming here for two years and as yet remains undefeated. He is scheduled to battle Tommy Havanas of Vestaburg in one of the eight AAU boxing bouts Monday night in The Arena.

The bout, while listed as "just one of eight," to be frank, is a main attraction and has done considerably to bolster up the card which has been arranged by the Jefferson A. C. to secure money for the Youth Development council. The money will be expended for the benefit of 1,000 boys and girls who patronize recreation centers here.

Another "main bout" is the Marion Klingensmith, Vestaburg vs. Johnny Como, Meadville, clash. Marion scored a tremendous hit when he fought Steve Kowalik. He gave as much as he received and if recollection serves correctly he was the "popular hero" of the scrap. Como is a hard puncher, game and holds the Erie Dispatch-Herald middleweight championship.

May Use O'Brien Wires were flashing to Matt McGowan, trainer of Sonny Horne at Niles today. Sonny won the two bouts which resulted in his being catapulted into the Chicago Tribune's semi-finals, scheduled for March 7. If Horne won't go through with the bout with Ted Delarado, East Liverpoolian, Regis O'Brien will possibly take his place Monday night.

Although fans would like to see the Horne-Delarado bout come off, the card looks so inviting that no one will worry much if a fighter of Delarado's rank, is substituted for Horne.

Indications are the Youth Development council will witness a banner crowd. The cause is popular and those who want to help the young of the city grow strong and healthy are putting their shoulders behind the amateur boxing show.

Tourney Managers To Meet Tuesday

There will be a final meeting of the Fourth Annual City-County basketball tourney managers at the city council chamber on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The managers must have their entry money and player lists with them at the meeting, it was announced by the tourney chairman.

The schedule of games and a starting night for the tourney will be determined upon next Tuesday, it was announced.

Frank Summers is in Florida for his perennial tour of the links. The clothier reportedly is shooting his customary good game. Summers expects to return in a few weeks.

Mrs. Frieda Nolan, New Castle's top ranking golfer, has fully recovered following an appendicitis operation performed recently. Mrs. Nolan will probably be ready to compete on the links by summer.

Tony Conn, chairman of the '41 County Basketball Tournament, showed us a glittering display of trophies to be awarded to the various winners. Conn takes great pride in reporting that the prizes are better than those awarded in any other tourney around this locality. We might add that Conn can stretch the distance to Pittsburgh and he won't be fibbing.

Russ Baxter, the fighting school-boy, plans to take up fighting as a career after he receives his sheepskin from New Castle high. The blond amateur star, who winds up his scholastic school days this June, feels that he has a chance to get somewhere in the fist world. Aside from experience, Baxter doesn't lack a thing, this seems to be the consensus of opinion.

How big is this sports business, financially speaking? The latest report from Washington, which comes from the department of commerce, shows that a billion dollars a year is spent by the public for sports and amusements. Baseball fans poured out close to $25,000,000 in 1940. Horse and dog tracks did a $43,507,000 business.

Titans Defeat Geneva 55 To 40

Fox, Miller And Spak Lead Scoring Attack That Swamps Geneva Quintet

BETHANY PLAYS TITANS SATURDAY

(Special To The News) BEAVER FALLS, Feb. 28.—Westminster's towering Titans came to Beaver Falls last night and hung a neat 55 to 40 shellacking on the Geneva College quintet for the second defeat of the year over the valley collegians.

The Titans, led by Fox and Miller, assumed the lead at the very outset of the game and were never in danger of being topped. The end of the first period it was 14 to 9 in favor of the United Presbyterians.

Geneva played the Titans on even ground the second period, with both teams caging 12 points to make the count at the halfway mark 26 to 21. It was in the third period that the Washabughmen pulled away never to be threatened again, scoring 15 points to nine for the Genevians. The count at the end of the third stanza was 41 to 30.

Ridd Plays Short While Westminster outscored the valley collegians 14 to 10 in the final period to make it 55 to 41. Hart, Viscarelli and Billie led the scoring for the Genevians, with Spak, Wask and Dunmire aiding the Titan stars in their splendid victory.

Charley Ridd, played a few minutes, but his injured ankle bothered him and he was taken out, but he scored a field goal in the very short while that he played.

Bethany College will play at New Wilmington on Saturday night. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Louis. With Uncle Sam starting to wink at Joe, it looks like Billy won't even get a shot at the Bombardier. Tunney, incidentally, only weighs 10 pounds more than the night he whipped Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight championship.

The season hasn't even started and Lee Grissom, Brooklyn pitcher, already has a slight shoulder ailment. Around New York, some of the bookies have made Cleveland an 8 to 5 shot to win the American banner. In the National, Pittsburgh is 8 to 1, the Cubs 12-1, the Bees 50-1 and Philadelphia 100-1, makes no difference which Philly you pick.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

If you ever have appeared in an amateur boxing bout in public, excepting in a college, preparatory school or high schools taking part in college competition, you're barred from college competition, according to action taken a few days ago which put Bill Mazzocco out of boxing at Penn State College. In other words it is perfectly alright to take the smashes on the chin for Penn State, but you can't take even one, if you ever have appeared as stated above. We may be wrong in our belief but we believe this somewhat "high hat." Billy Soose was barred from the same school a couple of years ago. Prior to Billy's entry in Penn State he was the star performer at Farrell, Mazzocco was banned after a coach for one of Penn State's opponents "snatched" on "Socco."

This morning brought the news that because his Chicago Tribune boxing tournament date is so close to Monday Sonny Horne will not box Ted Delrado here Monday night. Lee Ruffner of Kittanning will box Delrado. The Robinson-Havanas bout stands. Russell Baxter, this city, will meet Jack Virgelli of Vestaburg. All the other bouts have been arranged and practically all of them will be boxing here for the first time.

Gus Lesnevich defeated Nate Mann last night in 10 rounds in Detroit.

Penn State matmen defeated Michigan 14 to 12 at State college. The Lions also won in basketball from Muhlenburg, 50-29, at State college. Jane Cothran, Greenville, S. C., advanced to the semi-finals of the South Atlantic golf tourney at Ormond Beach with a 6-5 victory over Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D.

Billy Conn Wins By Technical Kayo

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 28.—Billy Conn, leading contender for Joe Louis' title, successfully hurdled his first time up opponent, scoring a four round technical knockout over Ira Hughes, Pittsburgh, here on Thursday night.

Conn, one of the flashiest mitt slingers in the business, met little resistance. From the opening bell, there was little doubt as to the outcome of the scrap.

PENN STATE WINS With Hershel Baltimore, New Castle athlete, playing an important hand, Penn State easily beat Muhlenburg, 50-29, last night at State College.

Titans Prepare For Game With Bethany

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 28.—Still leading the state's intercollegiate cagers, Westminster's Towering Titans return to their home court this Saturday night for a game against the Bethany Bisons. The Blue and White have been absent from the home floor since the Juniata game two weeks ago.

Although the Titans had little trouble in dropping the Bisons on the West Virginians' floor, 54-27, earlier in the season, Bethany is still a dangerous aggregation. The Bisons may be easy going for Westminster, and they may be a tough quintet for the Blue and White to down.

Only two more games remain in the 1941 season for Westminster on its own court, this Saturday's go with Bethany and the season's closing game against Carnegie Tech March 8.

With "Buzz" Ridd, the Titan's sensational offensive and defensive cager back in uniform, Westminster should be able to give basketball fans the kind of game they like, a fast, free-scoring contest. It is quite likely that lanky Fred Miller, Connelville center, and Frankie O'Hara, diminutive Ford City forward, will get a chance to "go to town" against the Bisons.

The Blue and White are determined to end their season without any more casualties in the form of "games lost." But for their single 36-37 loss to Indiana, the Titans would have swept through in an undefeated season for 21 straight games.

Coach Washabaugh is still hoping that the Titans may get a bid to the Madison Square Garden intercollegiate invitational meet. Contacted about two weeks ago, the coach indicated the Titans would go if invited. Six of the best teams in the country, outside the city of New York, are invited to the nation's most important post-season tournament.

Jenkins-Ambers Battle Tonight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Lou Ambers will climb in the ring tonight with lightweight champion Lew Jenkins, his immediate objective being a comeback from the knockout administered by Jenkins and his general idea being to launch a campaign in the welterweight circle.

Irrespective of Ambers' well laid plans, the chances today that he would either come back or successfully launch a welterweight debut seemed to coincide with the odds on the 10-round fight, which were anywhere from 2½ to 1 to 3 to 1 that Jenkins would win and even Stephen that he would do so by a repetition of his knockout performance.

RAMBLERS WILL PLAY.

The New Castle Ramblers basketball team will play an All-Star colored team at the Arena floor tonight, it was announced. The game will start at 8 o'clock. The Ramblers are undefeated to date. Teams wishing to schedule the Ramblers may do so by getting in touch with any of the players or by calling 6060-J and asking for Lawrence. The Ramblers have beaten such teams as—Falcon Reserves, Apex and New Castle Shop Five.
